

European Colloquium

3 October 2012, Rennes

Education and Training in Europe, A common Challenge

At a time when the European Union and the world are facing multiple shocks and undergoing unprecedented socio-economic and technological mutations, at a time when the temptation of withdrawal is gaining ground, at a time when the future of our youngsters is too often at risk, it seems necessary to redefine the finalities and the modalities of our educational projects. Similar questions arise in every Member State and we would greatly benefit from a common reflexion on the subject.

With this aim in view, our colloquium will evolve around three key-words: cooperation, inclusion, success.

- Presentation of the “Europe 2020” strategy; to what extent will this strategy enable the Member States to harmonize their educational projects and to direct them towards common objectives of success?
- What various actors can contribute to develop an educational environment bringing hope to all?
- What do we mean by “inclusive education”? To what extent could this notion help us to find elements of response to the challenges of today’s world and to the needs for highly diversified education and training programmes?

The colloquium will take place at IUFM de Bretagne, 153 rue Saint Malo, Rennes
